

A MESSAGE FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Friends,

We are building for the future here at Epiphany. Our beloved 1904 church is a beautiful house of God for all people; an enduring testament to the truth of God's love, formed by human hands and made of wood, stone and brick. Often as I sit in the stillness, pray in your presence, or raise my voice with yours, I think of those who made this place—fingerprints left on hardened brick, my knees kneeling where they once knelt.

This place is made alive by God's Spirit and through our song, laughter, learning, and praise. Together, we send a clear message to everyone who sees our church. In its beauty it speaks God's word to the world: "I am here." We are here for generations to come. Glory to God, we are a growing parish and deepening our love of God and neighbor in this new chapter of our life together. Strengthened by prayer, service, and the breaking of bread, we gather in this beautiful house of God, which has been entrusted to us by generations past. We continue the legacy we have received: to be Christ's Body, given for the life of the world.

Now is the time for us to ensure a strong future not only for those who now call Epiphany home, but for all who will join their voices with ours or give thanks in years to come for our good stewardship. I invite you into our capital campaign, BUILDING FOR THE AGES. Through our generous commitments, we will tend to the preservation of this house of God and help ensure that the legacy entrusted to us will persevere into the future through a robust endowment that supports our ministry needs. In faith, hope, and love we lay a spiritual foundation in this place, not only for the people of Winchester and the greater Boston area, but for all those we meet and are called to serve. Join us in securing the legacy of the Parish of the Epiphany.

I invite you to join me in strengthening our beloved community for the future. The BUILDING FOR THE AGES campaign will require our shared commitment and generosity to realize our goals of preserving our historic church and investing in our exceptional ministries. Thank you for your willingness to prayerfully discern a gift and commitment that will transform our life together.

In Christ,
